ARREST OF C. C. BOWEN .- We learn that this individual, who has figured prominently in our com-munity, has been arrested for tampering with the negroes, and obtaining money from them by false pretences. We have a full knowledge of Bowen's past character and antecedents, and will give them to the public at an early day.

THE PALMETTO GUARD CHARITABLE ASSOCIATION. The 28th of June has long been commemorated in this city as one of the "days we celebrate," and this observance has not fallen into disuse. Before the war it was a gala day, ushered in with the beating of drums and the display of colors, the time when the volunteer companies turned out in all the pomp and glory to be obtained by an exhibition of fancy uniforms. It was then a day of enjoyment, celebrated by pic-nics and rural gatherings, shooting at a target and similar amusements. Prominent among the organizations that had this day as their anniversary was the Palmetto Guard, one of the most popular military companies in the city. The 28th with them was a day long to be remembered as the brightest in the year, and one to be commemorated with the display usual on such occasions. The war and its result has changed this in a great measure. Tho Palmetto Guard fought, bled, and suffered, and the survivors have inaugurated a charitable assocition, which will celebrate its first anniversary today. The little band who now constitute the astion do not design having anything but a social gathering; but confidently expect that many years will not pass before they will be able to celeate the day in ye olden time, and will make the 18th known as the anniversary of the society.

THE 28TH OF JUNE .- To-day being the anniversary of the battle of Fort Sullivan, fought in 1776, when General MOULTRIE, with a mere handful of men, was victorious over the fleet of Sir PETER PARKER, consisting of two fifty-gun ships, four frigates, and a number of smaller vessels, will be ushered in by a salute of thirteen guns, by order of the military commandant of the post, and will be enlivened by a display of the United States flag from the different public buildings, and a fine exhibition of colors from vessels in port. Although there will be no procession of patriotic associations like there was in the days of the "Palmetto Society," nor such stirring addresses as used to be heard from the lips of such orators as Chapte, look upon this day as an anniversary which they have always enjoyed, and which they will celebrate as heartily as ever, but perhaps more modestly. The performances of the splendid band of the Sixth infantry will, we are sure, fill the Battery this evening with lovely women and delighted

THE HEAT. Now that the cool weather which adhered to us rather too long, has disappeared, and the heavily laden clouds have discharged themselves and gone, we are now suffering under a heat so oppressive and enervating as to cause as much grumbling as was drawn from us by excesgive cold and wet, but so prone is human nature to fault-finding that ill words do not always follow only what may be disagreeable, but blessings are as often railed at by many who do not know how to appreciate them. That the terrible heat from which we have been suffering for the past few days is not a blessing we positive assert, and we ieve that the inconveniencies we sustain under it gives us full liberty to growl at it as much as we please, and to say that if it was not for the artificial means we have adopted for decreasing the temperature of our body, we would have been, by this time, "partially consumed." The rays of the sun come upon us now with extra power, which, if eased until dog-days, will heat the crust upon which we move to such an extent as to make us all caper about like dancing turkeys. That this would be an undignified style of attending to business, making visits, and of carrying out many of the little courtesies that gives life its appreciability no one can doubt, as for this reason, if for no other, we should desire that old Sol put down his fires, and let his furnace cool. A rain and thunder storm is the only remedy for such days, and until we have this refreshing damper to such heat, we suppose we must submit to it.

COLORED SCHOOL EXAMINATION.—The closing exercises of Zion School, iu Zion Church, Calcorporation. Long before the hour appointed for the exercises every seat was filled, and though the majority of the audience was colored, there was a plentiful sprinkling of white faces. This school is under the charge of the Freedman's Committee of the Northern branch of the Old School General Assembly of Presbyterians at Pittsburg, Pennsylvania. All of the teachers are colored. The Rev. Mr. VAN HORN, a graduate of Princeton, New Jersey, being the principal: He is assisted by thirteachers, three male and ten females these are mostly Southerners, and have taken a deep interest in the school. A large stage had been arranged for the accommodation of the pupils, and the exercises were conducted principally by Mr. Van Honn, who appeared to have both the confidence and respect of his pupils. The school comprises 750 registered pupils, 450 girls and 300 boys, and the whole number are controlled by the principal and his assistants. It would be hardly just, under the circumstances, to compare this with other schools where they have seperate class rooms, and all the conveniences ne cessary to make both scholar and tutor comfort

The Zion school-room is somewhat cramped for the number of pupils, but notwithstanding the absence of the customary space, the arrangement of the classes is well calculated, and proves that the teachers have some experience in their duties. The exercises were opened by prayer, and the sixth classes, composed of both boys ...d girls, were examined in their different studies. We were present during the prior part of the examination, and were very much pleased with the proficiency shown by the pupils. The recitation in the different classes was very good, the enunciation being distinct, and the delivery clear and thorough. In geography, arithmetic and grammer, the pupils showed that they were conversant with the subjects, and their answers were promp and ready; but the declamation and the singing were by far the most popular features of the exercises, the latter being entered into by the whole body of pupils, and each voice sending forth its volume of song.

whole of the examination, but from a cursory glance can safely say that the school is well organized and controlled, and the principal and his assistants have the pupils under thorough control, while the latter appear to attend to their duties with a zeal that promises well for their future advancement. The recesser's control of the paper, and the development of the paper, and the development to will be given to the unsettled question of Labor, as best adapted to our new condition, and the development ture advancement. The necessarily cramped condition of the school prevented the exhibition of calesthenics, which has always been an important part of the routine, but the appearance of both the school and pupils was such as to at once show that the greatest care was taken by the managers. Although this school is governed by a separate body, and the funds for its support come exclusively from the North, yet the Zion Church take a deep interest in its welfare, and among the white visitors we recognized many members of that Church. After the examination was concluded, the prize medals were awarded the successful competitors, and representatives from each class, both boys and girls, received the reward of merit. The exercises were closed by singing "The Beautiful Land," and the assembly dispersed, satisfied that the African idea was shooting in the right direction.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS AND COMMON PLEAS, Hon. F. J. Moses presiding .- SMITH HAW-LEY, who had been indicted at the last term, was tried for perjury and found not guilty; but a new charge was preferred by the Attorney-General, and he will have another trial at the Winter term of presiding .- In the Circuit Court, yesterday morning, the application of WM. J. DETREVILLE, Esq., to be admitted to practice in the United States Courts for South Carolina, was read by C. R. BREWSTER, Esq., and, on his motion, the applicant was sworn and admitted.

To-day is a general holiday, and no Court will be held. UNITED STATES COURT, Hon. GEORGE S. BRYAN

In the case of the United States vs. Collins, for violation of the Internal Revenue Law, a bench warrant was issued for the arrest of a number of defaulting witnesses in the case.

MAYOR'S COURT, June 27 .- Charles Bentham, a light colored youth, who was accused by one James Johnson with hitting him on the mug, and of threatening to knock him into "a cold flinty rack," and of drawing a knife on him, but who, on examination, proved that Johnson was as bad as himself in his desire for a fight, and did some admirable kicking, to the damage of the said Charles' shins, was fined $5, and the same favor was extended to Johnson, as a reward for his conduct in the scrimmage. Anthony Cross, a black boy, who had amused himself by yelling and whooping at night in the street for an hour or so, much to the annoyance of the sleepy portion of the neighborhood, and the disgust of star gazers, was made to pay $2 for the splendid display of his vocal abilities. A mulatto youth, who must have been born with a bottle in his mouth, and who was found in a gutter in Cannon street, making desperate attempts to deceive passers-by that he was waiting to meet a man on business, was fined $5.

No MORE. Are there any other two words in the English language that convey more antagonistic meanings than this simple combination of sylla-bles? They are wrung out in silent means from memory that looks far over the barren gray flats of to-day, to some unforgotten yesterday, bright in blossom and sunshine. They blister trembling lips, pressed to dying eyes that are fast closing to the sights of earth. They clutch the heart in a deadly stifling grasp at those partings, where a face wet with tears is laid in our bosom, and we know that henceforward it will lie there no more. They look at us mockingly from red dawn and purple sunsets, for although these may be exceedingly beautiful, yet we can recall other dawns and sunsets where the gorgeous tky banners bore their imperial device "Io riomphe!" The clouds are there, but they hang like curtains hiding our dead hopes and baffled ambitions, and we can only write upon them the motto, "No more," for fate has already emblazoned it on our shield, and in our heart, and whenever and wherever our sluggish present apes the past. "No more," weeps the poor mother when her sad eyes fall on some little token of the beloved presence that now moulders under the daisies. "No more," groans the condemned criminal when his heavy glance takes its last farewell of the sunlight. "No more," thunders the storm that wrecks; the war that exterminates, the pestilence that smites. Nature's voices, too, with all their eloquence of the doctrine of eternal compensation have an undertone that swells the sad refrain. She says to us: "My flowers fade, but a thousand spring up to fill their places; my trees fall, but in a few summers the forests wave with a stronger the most genial vegetable extracts, and combining the growth; but to thee, the beauty that gladdened, three grand elements of a stomachic, an alterative, and a the shade that refreshed, are "no more." INGERSOLL'S HAND POWER COTTON PRESS.

For Convenience, Economy and Cheapness, the greatest Labor Saving Machine that can be put on a Plantation.

OPINIONS OF THE PEOPLE: ALLENDALE, BARNWELL DISTRICT, S. C., March 1, 1867.

Mestrs. Little & Marshall:

GENTLEMEN: I used, during the past season, one of "Ingersoll's Portable Cotton Presses," purchased of you last september. I have always been prejudiced in favor of the "Screw Press," and nothing but dire necessity induced me to try any other. I take pleasure, however, in adding my testimony in favor of its entire adaptation to the activation of the control of the co duced me to ry any other. I take pleasance, nowever, is adding my testimony in favor of its entire adaptation to the wants of a cotton plantation. It has surpassed my most sanguine expectations. I have packed with but two hands, yet I prefer four—two at each lever. My bales all wedghed over 500 lbs. The first lot I sent to market averaged 562 lbs. My impression is that 500 lbs. is about the capacity of the Press, and a greater number of pounds subject the follow-block to too much risk, unless the sides of the cotton box was increased. It would add greatly to the value of the Press if the cotton box was ten inches longer. In haste, I am, very respectfully, Your obedient servant, &c., B. W. LAWTON.
P. S. I took my Press down and carried it some four miles to pack the crop of a neighbor, who failed to have a "Screw" built; he was so much pleased that he has determined to abandon the "Screw" and purchase "Ingersoll's Press."

B. W. L.

OFFICE OF KING'S MOUNTAIN RAILROAD COMPANY, YORKVILLE, S. C., April 15, 1867.

GENTLEMEN: I have just received your letter of February 14th—upon my return to this place, after an absence of two months—and this reply may be too late for your "Descriptive Circular of Ingersoll's Cotton Press."

The Press I used in packing my cotton last year worked admirably, packing, with ease from 500 to 525 lbs. With good active hands to work it, I am satisfied that from eighteen to twenty baies might readily be nacked in a day.

This Press combines the advantages of lightness, and This Press combines the advantages of lightness, and consequent portability and simplicity (being easily managed by any one of ordinary intelligence). Great compressing force, with little motive power, and "last, but not least," it is worked entirely by hand, thus saving for the farm horses the hard labor imposed upon them by the use of the ordinary "Screw."

Respectfully, &c., yours, E. M. LAW.

I have always recommended the Faber Polygrade and Pencils as the only pencils fitted for both ornamen Lead Pencils as the only pencils fitted for both ornamental and mathematical drawing; but, after a thorough trial of the American Polygrado Lead Pencils, manufactured by the American Lead Pencil Company, New York, I find them superior to any pencil in use, oven to the Faber or the old English Cumberland Lead Pencil, being a superior pencil for sketching, ornamental and mechanical drawing, and all the ordinary uses of a lead encil.

These pencils are very finely graded and have a very mooth lead; even the softest penells hold the point well; smooth lead; even the softest penells hold the point well; they are all that can be desired in a penell.
